STUDENTS' BEHAVIORS IN MAKING DECISIONS TO INVEST IN STOCK IN THE INDONESIA EFFECTS BUREAU (Study Among Students of FEB, Yogyakarta State University)

by Supriyanto, Daru Wahyuni, Tejo Nurseto

ABSTRACT

This study aims to determine: (1) the effect of Financial Literacy on Risk Aversion; (2) the effect of Personal Value on Risk Aversion; (3) the effect of Technological Progress on Risk Aversion; (4) the effect of Minimum Capital Requirements on Risk Aversion; (5) the effect of Financial Literacy on Investment Decission; (6) the effect of Personal Value on Investment Decission; (7) the effect of Technological Progress on Investment Decission; (8) the effect of Minimum Capital Requirements on Investment Decission; (9) the effect of Risk Aversion on Investment Decission; (10) the effect of Finacial Literacy on Investment Decission through Risk Aversion as a moderating variable; (11) the effect of Personal Value on Investment Decission through Risk Aversion as a moderating variable; (12) the effect of Technological Progress on Investment Decission through Risk Aversion as a moderating variable (13) the effect of Minimum Capital Requirements on Investment Decission through Risk Aversion as a moderating variable.

This type of research is causal associative using a quantitative approach. Data collection techniques with questionnaire data collection methods. The population in the study were students of the Faculty of Economics, Yogyakarta State University. The sample in this study were 100 respondents taken with purposive sampling technique. The data analysis technique used Partial Least Square (PLS)-SEM.

Kata Kunci: Financial Literacy, Risk Aversion, Investment Decision, Technological Progress